DEAR COMMUNITY MEMBERS:

Happy New Year! I am so proud of the unique and diverse programs that we offer here at the Palo Alto Adult School. On any particular day, I am able to visit parents participating in a preschool classroom and converse with adults learning English for the first time. In the evening, I am able to enjoy the sounds of the violin, watch and participate with students learning a world language for their future travels, and hear the thundering sound of Taiko drums.

Our popular Woodworking program continues to grow with new courses. In celebration of our dedicated woodworkers, our community partner this quarter is the Bay Area Woodworkers Association, a group that brings together woodworkers of all skill levels, beginner to professional, from all over the Bay Area.

Our new year line-up includes the return of the Glassblowing workshop and several popular cooking instructors. Take a look at our list of on-campus and online classes, and sign up for the one that is right for you!

See you in class,

Jim Sherman

“I wanted to become a luthier (violin maker) which requires good woodworking skills. I found the Adult School woodworking classes on the web and have now taken 9 different classes. The instructors were very knowledgeable, experienced, and passionate about woodworking. I was the first one to take Adult School classes among my friends and family, and have also taken Sewing and Italian. I apply my woodworking skills to the violin-making process every day, and look forward to taking more classes at the Adult School!”
